

Adulteration was alleged with respect to all the said articles with the exception of the Mount Cross brand blackberry and apple jelly for the further reason that they were colored in a manner whereby damage and inferiority were concealed.

Misbranding was alleged in substance for the reason that the statements, "Mount Cross Brand * * * Jelly Currant and Apple * * * Net Contents 9 Lbs. 12 Ozs.," "Mount Cross Brand * * * Raspberry and Apple Jelly Net Contents 4 Lbs. 8 Ozs.," or "Grape & Apple," "Strawberry and Apple," or "Blackberry & Apple," as the case might be, and "Jonquil Brand * * * Contents 6 Ounces Grape-Apple Jelly," or "Strawberry-Apple," "Currant-Apple," "Cherry and Apple," "Raspberry-Apple," "Blackberry-Apple," or "Loganberry and Apple," as the case might be, appearing on the respective containers of the said jellies, were false and misleading and deceived and misled the purchaser.

Misbranding was alleged for the further reason that the articles were imitations of and offered for sale under the names of other articles, and for the further reason that the articles were [food] in package form, and the quantity of the contents was not plainly and conspicuously marked on the outside of the packages.

On March 20, 1923, the Kellogg Birge Mfg. Co., Keokuk, Iowa, claimant, having admitted the allegations of the libels with respect to the adulteration and misbranding of the products, judgments of condemnation and forfeiture were entered, and it was ordered by the court that the said products be released to the claimant upon payment of the costs of the proceedings and the execution of bonds in the aggregate sum of $1,500, in conformity with section 10 of the act.

11368. Adulteration and misbranding of aletris. U. S. v. 140 Pounds of Aletris. Decree of condemnation and forfeiture. Product released under bond. (F. & D. No. 17285. I. S. No. 2628-v. S. No. E-4308.)

On February 16, 1923, the United States attorney for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district a libel for the seizure and condemnation of 140 pounds of aletris, remaining in the original unbroken packages at Philadelphia, Pa., consigned by Anderson-Hillier Co., Inc., New York, N. Y., alleging that the article had been shipped from New York, N. Y., on or about November 27, 1922, and transported from the State of New York into the State of Pennsylvania, and charging adulteration and misbranding in violation of the Food and Drugs Act. The article was labeled in part: "Aletris From Anderson-Hillier Co. Inc. Importers & Drug Millers Jersey City, N. J."

Adulteration of the article was alleged in the libel for the reason that it was sold under and by a name recognized in the National Formulary and differed from the standard of strength, quality, and purity as determined by the test laid down in said National Formulary, official at the time of investigation.

Misbranding was alleged for the reason that the package containing the article bore the statement, "Aletris," regarding the said article and the ingredients and substances contained therein, which was false and misleading.

On March 10, 1923, the H. K. Mulford Co., Philadelphia, Pa., having entered an appearance as claimant for the property, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be released to the said claimant on payment of the costs of the proceedings and the execution of a bond in the sum of $200, in conformity with section 10 of the act, conditioned in part that it be cleaned under the supervision of this department.

11369. Adulteration of oranges. U. S. v. 150 Bushels and 375 Bushels of Oranges. Default decrees of condemnation and forfeiture. Product delivered to charitable institution. (F. & D. No. 17362. I. S. Nos. 3315-v, 3316-v. S. No. E-4326.)

On March 13, 1923, the United States attorney for the Northern District of Georgia, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district libels, and on March 15, 1923, amended libels, praying the seizure and condemnation of 525 bushels of oranges at Atlanta, Ga., alleging that the article had been shipped by H. E. Galyean, Florence Villa, Fla., in part on or about February 24 and in part on or about March 3, 1923, and transported from the State of Florida into the State of Georgia, and charging adulteration in violation of the Food and Drugs Act.

Adulteration of the article was alleged in the libels as amended for the reason that a substance, to wit, decomposed oranges and tree dried oranges which were inedible, had been mixed with the said article so as to reduce, lower, and injuriously affect its quality. Adulteration was alleged for the further reason that the article consisted in part of a decomposed vegetable substance, to wit, rotten oranges and tree dried inedible oranges.

On March 17, 1923, due notice having been served upon all parties in interest and said parties having disclaimed any intention of resisting the condemnation of the product, judgment of condemnation and forfeiture was entered, and it was ordered by the court that the product be delivered to the Salvation Army for use and not for sale.

11370. Adulteration and misbranding of soluble saccharin. U. S. v. Sethness Co., a Corporation. Plea of guilty. Fine, $150. (F. & D. No. 12464. I. S. Nos. 6064-r, 6143-r, 6144-r, 6395-r.)

On December 13, 1920, the United States attorney for the Northern District of Illinois, acting upon a report by the Secretary of Agriculture, filed in the District Court of the United States for said district an information against the Sethness Co., a corporation, Chicago, Ill., alleging shipment by said company, in violation of the Food and Drugs Act, in various consignments, namely, on or about June 14, July 30, and October 8, 1918, respectively, from the State of Illinois into the States of Mississippi, Missouri, and Kansas, respectively, of quantities of soluble saccharin which was adulterated and misbranded. A portion of the article was labeled in part: "Guaranteed under the Food & Drugs Act of June 30, 1906 Sethness Company Chicago, U. S. A. Cosco Brand Soluble Saccharine." The remainder of the said article was labeled in part: "Sethness Company * * * Soluble Saccharine Crystals."

Analyses of samples of the article by the Bureau of Chemistry of this department showed that it consisted essentially of insoluble saccharin, soluble saccharin, and sodium bicarbonate.

Adulteration of the article was alleged in the information for the reason that it was sold under and by a name recognized in the United States Pharmacopœia and differed from the standard of strength, quality, and purity as determined by the tests laid down in said Pharmacopœia, official at the time of the investigation of the article, in that said Pharmacopœia provides that soluble saccharin is the soluble salt of benzosulphinide or the sodium salt of saccharin, whereas the said article was a mixture of sodium salt of saccharin, insoluble saccharin or benzosulphinide, and sodium bicarbonate, and the standard of strength, quality, and purity of the said article was not declared on the containers thereof.

Misbranding was alleged for the reason that the statements, to wit, "Soluble Saccharine" and "Guaranteed under the Food & Drugs Act of June 30, 1906," borne on the labels attached to the cans containing a portion of the article, and the statement, to wit, "Soluble Saccharine," borne on the labels attached to the cans containing the remainder thereof, regarding the article and the ingredients and substances contained therein, were false and misleading in that the said statements represented that the article was soluble saccharin and that a portion thereof conformed to the laws of the United States Government, whereas, in truth and in fact, the said article was not soluble saccharin but was a mixture composed essentially of insoluble saccharin and sodium bicarbonate, and the said portion of the article did not conform to the laws of the United States Government. Misbranding was alleged for the further reason that the article was a mixture composed essentially of insoluble saccharin and sodium bicarbonate, prepared in imitation of and offered for sale and sold under the name of another article, to wit, soluble saccharin.

On February 7, 1923, a plea of guilty to the information was entered on behalf of the defendant company, and the court imposed a fine of $150.
